

Beauty Below the Surface Photo Contest Winners

Welcome to the winners circle for the Beauty Below the Surface photo contest.

Current Winner Mike

This is a large male Aristochormis Christyi he is in my 120gal Haplochromis African tank. October 2009
Previous Winners
Kay

My big guy. He is not very shy and loves to be out during the daytime. September 2009 Julie

My shy gourami on a rare adventure out and about. August 2009

Dawn

Out of This World, reminds me of a picture taken in space. Maybe what it would look like to find a Florida Ricordea on a moon rock! July 2009

Jack

My juvenile Jack Dempsey cichlid. June 2009

Dawn

I absolutely love this picture of my crab and anemone! It appears as if he is waving hello! May 2009

Jeffrey

This is a one of my Aussi Acans in the reef tank. April 2009

Anthony

Various Swordtails. March 2009

Jason

This picture shows all of my fish and the cave decoration. February 2009

Jeffrey

Marble sea star in my nano tank. January 2009

Jonathan

Betta King lives in a 10 gallon tank with five albino cories. December 2008

Kay

This is one of my two rescue feeder fish. I have started to call them Fat & Sassy. They have gotten me back into aquariums after over 20 years. November 2008

Pitbull

Synodontis eupterus, aka the high-fin squeaker, the feather fin cat is an aggressive hold-their-own African catfish. They stay moderately small about 8 to 9 inches compared to 1000's of other catfishes throughout the world that reach enormous sizes. But, what they lack in size they make up for in attitude! A delightful catfish -- if you've never had one before, you must experience the thrill of a synodontis cat. October 2008

Jennifer

This is my goldfish Monet showing off for the camera. He knows he's handsome because I tell him so all the time! He lives in his 20 gal freshwater tank. September 2008

Pitbull

Neolamprologus brichardi riding along with a faded frontosa. August 2008

Rhonda

This is a pair of my blushing white angels. July 2008 Kay

I got the tank to save some feeder fish. it now has plants, 2 snails, a pleco and two of the feeder fish. June 2008

Ira

My heavily planted (soon to be) shrimp only tank. May 2008

Bill
This is my community planted tank with my tiger barb chillin' in front of the camera. April 2008

Kimberly
My lovely and elegant Opaline Gourami. March 2008

Heather
Our Little Reef February 2008

Robert
Rocknrob's Natural Beauty January 2008

Ira
A picture of my tiger lotus overlooking the loach "crib".
December 2007

Sarah
Sea World in my living room.

Description
Our 125 gal. reef is very calming after a stress filled day on the job. The inhabitants provide some lively entertainment as well. We love to watch our 18 mo. old grandson stare wide eyed at the colorful fish and corals. Not only is the tank teaching him about the reef, it's just plain fun!
November 2007 Jon
My female German Blue Ram fanning eggs.
October 2007 Alex
Beautiful Freshwater Fish Planted Aquarium

September 2007 Pitbull
Amazon Pleco

Description:
Royal Pleco (panaque nigrolineatus) this pleco is in a 120 gallon amazon aquarium setup with several cories and angelfish. This pleco is currently 3" long. August 2007 Kelly Walters
29gal Betta Planted Community

Description:
This Crowntail is housed with 6 Cherry Barbs, 8 Glowlight Tetras, 2 Apple Snails, and 5 Shrimp. Plus numerous live plants. July 2007 Kelly Walters
20gal Planted Dwarf Puffer Tank

Description:
I have 2 Dwarf Puffers and 1 Pleco. June 2007