

Coast to coast fish

Stripped Bass

In the 1870's striped bass became the first fish to be successfully transplanted from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The colonies of juveniles and larvae that took hold have blossomed into a population that supports the fishing industry from Alaska to Los Angeles.