

Eel-Powered Christmas Tree

An electric eel lights up a Christmas tree.

Posted: December 6, 2007, 3 p.m. EST

Electric eel (Electrophorus electricus) by Stan Shebs.

A Japanese aquarium has displayed an electric eel (Electrophorus electricus) that powers lights on a Christmas tree.

Each time the electric eel at the Aqua Toto Gifu aquarium touches a copper wire in its tank, it sends power to lights decorating a Christmas tree.

Officials said they expect the "eel Christmas tree" to be a popular attraction.

To read the full article, click here.